Overview of Proposed Grant Program:

This grant will be used for the purchase of a data analytics software program called First Watch. The program will allow Stafford to integrate other data platforms to enhance monitoring, information sharing, and analysis of opioid-related data. The analysis will allow community, public health, and emergency response leaders to assess the effectiveness of mitigation efforts and focus resources with real-time data. The focus is for using data to understand the need for training and education in the community including identifying hot-spots and modifying efforts to meet the changing demand in the community.
